

How to Request Reconsideration from State of Alaska Individual Assistance

Requesting reconsideration from the State of Alaska for earthquake assistance is the final step in the state individual assistance program. To do so, applicants to the state individual assistance program should visit ready.alaska.gov/earthquake. Be prepared to provide the following information:

- FEMA registration number
- Full amount of assistance you received from FEMA
- Acceptance of an SBA loan if eligible
 - 1-800-659-2955
 - <https://disasterloan.sba.gov/ela/>
- Full amount of assistance received from SBA if eligible
- Documentation supporting your remaining essential needs (Professional estimates, receipts, invoices etc.)

After applying for reconsideration, state individual assistance will be determined. This amount is based on a variety of factors including insurance, federal assistance, and extent of damage. The state individual assistance program will not duplicate federal funds or provide assistance that exceeds an applicant's losses.

If you have questions concerning the State of Alaska Individual Assistance program for the 2018 Cook Inlet Earthquake, call 855-445-7131 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.