Significant Issues:

Storm outlook

Storm #3: Monday, October 26–Tuesday afternoon, October 27-Stronger winds may raise water levels again in communities around Kotzebue Sound.

Storm #4: Tuesday afternoon, October 27–Thursday morning, October 29- expected to bring heavy precipitation.

Storm #5: Wednesday, October 28–Friday morning

- The remnants of Typhoon Champi are tracking north and may bring additional coastal impacts and precipitation.
- The forecast is still being refined. This storm is not expected to be comparable to Merbok or Halong.

Community status

- Kivalina: Power has been restored. Approximately 25 people sheltered at the school overnight on October 26. Shelter supplies and an on-site medical provider were available; no additional shelter support requested. Shelter will stay open for a few more days.
- Homer: SEOC established communication with the Kenai Peninsula Borough Emergency Manager. No substantial impacts are expected.
- Cordova: A small landslide occurred on private property late October 19 into early October 20. Debris was close to a roadway, which was closed for safety. No SEOC assistance has been requested.

SEOC status

- Remains at Level 2 of 4, Enhanced Watch.
- SEOC Enhanced Watch will continue throughout the week as additional storms are forecast for the West Coast. The continuing sequence of storms allows limited time for water levels to recede.
